Detail:

Dye-sublimation Printing:

1. We use Dye-sublimation to print the graphic.
2. Dye-sublimation printing is a digital printing technology using full color artwork that works with polyester and polymer-coated substrates.

3. Because the dyes are infused into the substrate at the molecular level, rather than applied at a topical level (such as with screen printing and direct to garment printing), the prints will not crack, fade or peel from the substrate under normal conditions.
4. Colors can be extraordinarily brilliant due to the bonding of the dye to the transparent fibers of the synthetic fabric, truly continuous tones can be achieved that are equivalent to photographs, without the use special techniques such as half-screen printing, and the image can be printed all over the entire item, with no difficulty in printing all the way to the edges.

Comparison of image characteristics of Screen printing versus Dye sublimation/Direct sublimation printing.

Screen printing
Image data is divided into CMYK color screens, and each color is printed using halftone dots.

Dye sublimation / Direct sublimation printing
Images can be printed without halftone dots. Images are suitable for close viewing advertisement applications, since these high quality prints are near photographic quality.
